Dan says...

I have really enjoyed my studies at Newquay so far. After leaving Wadebridge I went to Newquay and achieved my Diploma after 2 years study. I then decided to do a Foundation Degree which I am currently studying for. As part of my studies I have had fantastic opportunities to experience work in Animal establishments with a huge range of species, such as African Lion, Meerkats, Black Tip Reef Shark & Caiman Crocodile.

As well as the amazing work experience opportunities I have had so far I will also be travelling to the Kruger National Park in South Africa next year to go on Safari and to assist with Conservation projects such as Rhino tagging! I hope to progress on to Plymouth University to do a BSc in Animal Conservation Science which will lead to some great job opportunities working with animals.

It's really important to choose to study a subject you are passionate and enthusiastic about as it makes a great difference to your general happiness and leads to greater success if you are genuinely interested in your chosen area of study. It took me a while to find the right course as at first I was doing A levels, but it wasn't for me and I changed direction late in Year 12—better late than never!
